

Playpark Rules

- All passengers must have an online profile, even if you are a non-participant. Minors and teenagers are, beyond popular believe, also people and need a profile prior to entering Playalot. See our easy registration process online (or ask for assistance at Reception).
- Playalot encourages parents/guardians and minors to participate in all our activities - it is compulsory to have fun!
- Fun Marshall's instructions always need to be adhered to (they are the friendly ones with the yellow safety jackets). Parents/guardians are advised to ensure that minors understand and adhere to individual safety rules of the respective play zones - it is there for your safety.....and ours...
- Playalot safety grip-socks are compulsory in all play zones - they are beautiful and yours to keep for your next visit. Any ignorance in this regard will have you deported back to Reception.
- Any injuries should be reported immediately to a Fun Marshall - we have a well-equipped medical room - hopefully you never get to see what it looks like on the inside.
- Drinking and riding is not allowed. Food or drinks, of any kind, is strictly prohibited in all play zones.
- All passengers, young and old, partake in play activities at their own risk. 'Unborns' and persons older than 99 should present a medical certificate of approval before participating in any strenuous activity... On a serious note, if you have a known medical condition, don't try your luck :)
- All valuables can be stowed away in lockable compartments. Do not leave shoes, bags or other personal belongings unattended in the Playpark. Playalot supports a charity that gladly accepts all donations.
- Empty your pockets and remove any loose objects before playing - things may get lost, break, or even worse, hurt you!
- Playalot always promote positive and good behavioural conduct, but mostly, we promote FUN!
- Please respect other passengers by sticking to your pre-booked time slot.
- Age appropriate zones are there, for mostly, safety reasons. On exception, non-participants called 'Mom' or 'Dad' will be allowed to assist their 'baby of the year' in the 0-3 Europe play zone.
- Please do not remove any toys or equipment from any play zones - our interior decorators will not approve!
- RIGHT OF ADMISSION IS RESERVED
